The Power of Women Assembled

by Judy Sibelman

We gather like droplets learning to be cloud; drawn by sun's insistence, we build the power to cool its very touch and flood its fires, teaching comfort to the land.

From every direction we come together like the roots of a tree joining at its center, rising, turning as we rise, reaching as we turn, alive, welcoming life in our arms, bearing strength like a single thought bridging earth and sky.

Sharp and bright as the instant of the dawn, we are Aurora and we wield the power of women assembled to change the world.
We raise our voices not in anger, but in harmony, weave our song into a fine basket cupping, as our hands that bear water, as our bodies that bear life, our conviction: peace be.
